Term 1 Week 4

16 February 2015

Stage 4 English

This term students in Stage 4 are learning about identity and how it is shaped and developed in texts. To start the unit students were asked to make a 'Collection on Me' by bringing in 3-5 objects from home that reflected their identity. Students then formed small groups and explained the significance of their objects to each other. It was great when all students said they learnt something new about each other through the process.

Students then used iPad's to photograph their collection in interesting ways, in order to produce a visual text that reflected their identity. Using online photo editing software students edited their images, adding filter effects and text. Here are some examples of the final 'Collections of Me' images which will be printed and hung in our classroom to brighten up our learning space. I think they look amazing! Can you guess which Year 7 and 8 student's images are featured at right?

Principal's Message

I have been walking around classrooms as much as possible to determine how students have settled into the positive work habits we expect at Trundle Central School. I have been very impressed with the vast majority of students as I always am at Trundle Central School. As I mentioned last week every student ultimately has to take responsibility for their own learning. Schools provide the environment and tools for success and Trundle Central School goes well beyond any other school I have been associated with, but ultimately the individual decides to what extent these opportunities are embraced. This is especially so in High School where students battle the natural desire to be too cool for school, peer relationships and the need for academic success. Adolescence is a very difficult time as all people struggle to determine their identity during this time. Indeed, I had a conversation with a student who informs me school is boring. Schools try to make lessons and activities as stimulating as possible but ultimately some things can be boring to some people especially if they go into the task with a closed mind. I had to say to this student if you think your teachers are tough and boring wait until you get a boss!

Last week Mrs Sanderson and I met with Mrs Cleal Principal of St Patrick's School to discuss how our two schools can work in partnership to improve the opportunities for Trundle students. Some ideas from this meeting require administrators to think outside the square to allow us to enter joint teams and others simply require a shared administrative and financial commitment between the two schools. My staff and I believe a constructive partnership allows both schools to be strong and I thank Mrs Cleal and the staff of St Patrick's for their commitment and professionalism to work together for the children of Trundle.

All learning is important. However Literacy & Numeracy development is a particular focus of Trundle Central School. As a result the school makes every effort to have uninterrupted learning time especially before 12:00pm in the Primary section of the school. Please support us with this policy and where possible try not to make appointments for your children during this time.

The school has written very few late slip for 2015. This is a very pleasing result but early days yet. The challenge for students and families is to keep up this fantastic effort. I believe in rewarding effort, so if students keep up this fantastic effort a suitable reward will be coming their way.

In this newsletter you will notice an advertisement for a person to teach guitar. This position is available because Mr Darren Wykes is not available this year. I would like to take this opportunity to thank Darren for his enormous contribution to the children of Trundle during his time teaching guitar and work skills at our school. Darren was very welcoming to me and my family when we first arrived and continued to be a source of support and advice throughout the year. This is a tribute not his obituary as I am sure he will continue to be involved with the school in the future.

Updates on the work around the school:

Our computer network is operational again but will need a major upgrade in the near future. I hope this will occur this term as from all reports the transition to a new system can be difficult.

The phone system replacement is still in the hands of the insurance company so we are still struggling with a temporary system. The cost of a new system is well above the schools capacity to finance, so it is a waiting game at this stage.

The painting of the Science Lab was not at an acceptable standard so work continued until the contractor and I agreed that it is complete. This thankfully has now occurred.

The school last week purchased additional equipment for our school gym so it should be operational in the near future.

A tender has been put out to replace the water line running from the meter to our toilets so I expect this work to be completed during the Easter break. As mentioned previously increasing our water pressure is a goal for this year.

Our electronic sign has been unpacked and Mr Lynn is working through the software to make it operational. Unpacking the sign was the extent of my skills and contribution. Unfortunately our old sign has been vandalised reducing its second hand value. I hope the person responsible eventually realises or develops the capacity to realise that they stole resources away from the whole school by this senseless act. This is not what this town is about!

Trees have been purchased to provide additional shade in the playground and increase the visual appeal of the school. I can already hear various circles of knowledge commenting that I cut trees down now I am replanting them. Yes, that is exactly what I am doing with the exception these are young safe trees.

I am very pleased when people comment on how well the school looks as I believe it needs to be an advertisement for the town as people pass through or even better stop a while.

Congratulations to parents for encouraging students to wear correct uniform. Uniform creates identity and fosters school pride, two essential elements for continued success. Uniform also creates a less competitive social environment as all children are dressed the same irrespective of family income. I often laugh when students complain about uniform but I see them in the town dressed almost the same to gain acceptance and belong to a group. Indeed, if students push the boundaries of uniform they are only identifying with another sub-culture and belief system.

The Parents & Citizens (P&C) annual general meeting is coming up in the near future. I encourage people to nominate for positions on the P&C. Members of the P&C contribute to the direction of the school, provide a valuable source of support and advice to school executive and raise funds for much needed projects around the school. The current active members of the P&C are wonderful members of the school community and I thank them for their tireless commitment to the school. I have used the phrase contribute to the direction of the school because ultimately the Principal determines the direction of the school. However, I realised very early in life I do not know everything and as a result I am willing to seek advice and admit that I am wrong when that occurs so you can be assured I value the contribution of the P&C.

Unfortunately last Thursday and Friday we have had dogs in our agricultural plot killing and injuring our chooks. If you own a dog with an appetite for fresh chicken you may like to secure them in your yard during the day and night. Three new chooks and an apology would be nice as well. If you believe it could be your dog ring the school and I can describe the dogs to you and at least one owner.

I often wonder what constitutes success for a school. Some people believe a school is judged solely on academic results. However, if this is the sole criteria schools would only offer the core curriculum. Public schools are constantly looking for ways to cater for the whole child and every child. To satisfy this goal Trundle Central School last week started interest electives and community service programs. This week we will start work awareness training for 2015. Creating avenues where students can express alternative skills and talents is essential to build self-esteem and worth in young people to help maintain this great country we live in. I am just as proud of a student who displays talent in the trades as a student who is academically gifted, so this school should reflect this fact.

In this newsletter is a photo of the 1977 Year 7 class. A lottery ticket to the first person who can correctly name all the members of this class. I will double the prize for the first person to name the three people that are absent from this photo. Please can people stop telling me they were not born in 1977?

Once again Trundle Central School students have displayed enormous talent. In the recent Little Athletics meet Brooke Morgan was first in Javelin (personal best distance) and third in the 1500 metres, Monique Morgan was 3rd in 800 metres (personal best time) and 3rd in triple jump (personal best distance). William Taylor was second in the 1500 metres (personal best time). Brooke and William are off to the state carnival. Well done to all these students.

The Rugby League season is fast approaching and the soon to be mighty Trundle Boomers are training hard. Please support the Trundle Boomers in the 2015 season. You do not have to be a league fan to understand the importance of a strong team in the town.

Another great week in Trundle.

Secondary Cricket week 8

Last Saturday we play waratahs in Trundle, winning the toss we elected to bowl first. We looked like we were still in holiday mode and looked rather lethargic in the field to have the waratahs all out for 108 on a slow outfield. Chasing a rather low score Trundle team lost their way with bad shot selection to be all out for 65. See you all at training on Friday at 5pm

Trundle Bush Tucker Day is a not for profit community event, run by a committee of Volunteers who rely on the support from our local businesses, organisations, sponsors and volunteers.

We have a unique way to involve groups – if they help out at the event; we give them a donation on Australia Day the following year. It works both ways – we have helpers on the day, and the community groups receive a vital donation. The committee also chooses a select number of community groups and charities to support each year.

Primary Report

The Trundle Primary team played the Condo Colts at the Trundle Showground last Saturday. Unfortunately the start of play was delayed due to the removal of empty beer bottles left strewn over the pitch and playing field by some unthinking revellers, thank you to the parents from both Trundle and Condo who helped with the clean-up. The Colts took the first turn at bat and scored a healthy 147 runs, Trundle's fielding was good, though some missed catches cost our side dearly. Our batting innings showed some excellent promise with better running between wickets than this side has shown before, but some great catches from the Colts curbed our chance in this game getting Trundle all out before reaching the required tally. Next week Trundle plays The Condo Gilgias at Trundle Showground starting at 8.30 am, training will be on Wednesday at 5pm. A reminder that the fees for our new shirts are now due and have to be paid soon.

Thanks to our scorers and umpires on the day. Thank you also to our sponsors, Trundle Hotel, Trundle Services and Citizens Club, Dolly's Beauty and Beyond, Trundle Café, and Trundle Ag n Vet services
